

PRESS RELEASE December 10th 2014

99 Percent Gang A New Screwball Episodic Comedy Series

A merry band of lovable misfits form a political underground financial re-distribution engine... in short they become crooks, and through a series of bold adventures, attempt to swindle Billionaires out of pocket change, to give away to the 99 Percent, those in need, like the rest of us!

ThiaMedia Studios in Glendale California is now in production of a new episodic comedy series called "99 Percent Gang" featuring Thomas Anawalt, Satchel André, C. Stephen Foster, Charlotte Gulezian, and Moronai Kanekoa. Four of the five are recent graduates of the coveted USC Master's Program in Drama.

The episodes, written and directed by Charles Pelletier, and produced by Cynthia Webster, are being shot in Glendale both at ThiaMedia Studios and various locations. The two are confident that they have a seriously funny show of very high caliber, and are producing it on spec planning for it to be picked-up by Crackle, Hulu, Netflix, or other networks. The show is tremendously funny and looking for a permanent home.

Principal Photography started on the first episode in August of 2014. Several future episodes are written, and standing sets have been constructed. The show just signed a production contract with SAG-AFTRA which will allow them to bring in well known actors as guest stars in future episodes. The team is on hiatus over the holidays and seeking investors and sponsors for the series. If you have a product that you would like to see on the show, then contact them!

You can see the first episode of 99 Percent Gang "That's Opportunity Knocking..." for free on Funny Or Die's comedy website here <http://www.funnyordie.com/videos/1bc7657a9f/99-percent-gang>

Its been getting a terrific response so far, with lots of viewers voting it FUNNY.

Pelletier says, "My favorite episodic comedies have always been those that are grounded in current political and social ideas such as "All in the Family", "MASH", and "Family Ties". "What better way to get people to actually think about the crazy world we live in, than through comedy".

According to Art Director Daryl Hoss, a member of Veterans in Film & Television LA, "the show isn't just about random acts of kindness and the present imbalance of society... "instead of just talking about helping those in need, the show is also giving veterans real opportunities to work here in the industry.

For more information about the show please visit their website

99 Percent Gang The Series
<http://www.99percentgang.com>

ThiaMedia Studios LLC 745 W. Wilson Ave, Glendale, CA 91203 (310) 745-4691

